

Abstract

A liquid soap, as defined by 21 C.F.R. 701.20, that is contained in a dispensing container having a foam dispenser head. When dispensed, the foam dispenser head combines the soap with air to provide a foam. The soap is free of any additive, such as moisturizer, thickener, or the like, which would remove the soap from the FDA "soap" definition. The soap is dilutable with a solvent, such as water.

5